Overview

We wanted to provide a list of low-cost panels that are also good quality. So, our solar experts reviewed panels from reliable brands to find which ones provided the best value. You could find other solar panels cheaper than the ones we chose, but the quality would likely be low. After all, what's the point of buying.

Why we chose them: LONGi solar panels are not only the cheapest solar panels on this list at $2.40 per watt, but they also hold their value quite well. LONGi Solar offers solid solar panels with PERC technology, which allows for high-efficiency ratings.

Why we chose them: Trina Solar is a well-established solar panel brand offering cutting-edge technology and long-lasting value. The China-based manufacturer offers a 25-year product and performance warranty. Their performance warranty promises.

Why we chose them: Canadian Solar is a long-time admired brand from SolarReviews. As one of the top five solar manufacturers in the world, there's a good chance the installer you work with will recommend these panels. Most Canadian Solar models have a.

Why we chose them: JA Solar is a China-based solar manufacturer with several global offices, including one in San Jose, California. Just like other panels on this list, JA panels offer half-cut cells and PERC technology to make them more efficient. JA Solar's warranty.

How can I get solar panels for my home?

The one thing that solar leases and PPAs do is offer consumers a way to get solar without any upfront cost. However, there are other options available, such as financing your system with zero down. A solar lease will allow the installer to build a system on your property and charge you a monthly fee to lease the equipment from them.

How much power do solar panels produce?

A good rule of thumb is approximately 1 kW of solar panels = 4 kWh of electricity generated per day. That means for each KW of your solar panel array, you should estimate that you will get about 4 kWh per day of electricity production. If you have a 5 KW solar system, you will produce around 20 kWh (kilowatt-hours) of electricity.
